

Changes to the Court of Appeals Miscellaneous Fee Schedule

Outlined below are changes to fees included in the Court of Appeals Miscellaneous Fee Schedule that were approved by the Judicial Conference at its March 2001 session, or by prior Conference action that was contingent upon passage of legislation permitting the judiciary to retain any increase. The Federal Courts Improvement Act of 2000, P.L. 106-518 (Nov. 13, 2000, 114 Stat. 2410) included such a provision. These changes will become effective on July 1, 2001.

Fee for Reproduction of Recordings

This fee was modified to account for changes in technology that have occurred since the fee was originally established. Many courts today record proceedings using digital equipment rather than magnetic tape recordings. Members of the public requesting reproductions of recordings would prefer that the recording be provided on or through media other than cassette or reel-to-reel. This fee has been expanded to remove the reference to a particular medium. In addition, in order to be consistent with the principle of encouraging government users to utilize electronic access when available and avoid burdening the clerks' offices with requests, the exemption for federal agencies from the payment of this fee is eliminated for reproduction of recordings of proceedings, when the record is available through a court's Case Management/Electronic Case Files (CM/ECF) system.* The amount of the fee ($20) remains the same.

Archived Record Retrieval Fee

In September 1997, the Judicial Conference approved an increase from $25 to $35 for the fee for retrieval of a record from the Federal Records Center, National Archives, or other storage location removed from the place of business of the court, contingent upon enactment of legislation to permit the judiciary to keep the increased amount. Such a provision was included in the Federal Courts Improvement Act of 2000. Therefore, the archive retrieval fee will increase to $35.

Local Rules

This fee was modified to reflect current technologies by removing the term "printing" and replacing it with the word "providing" to allow courts to provide electronic copies of local rules. As stated in the language of the fee item, courts may still opt to provide local rules without charge.

Electronic Public Access Fees

Changes to the District Court Miscellaneous Fee Schedule

Outlined below are changes to fees included in the District Court Miscellaneous Fee Schedule that were approved by the Judicial Conference at its March 2001, session or by prior Conference action that was contingent upon passage of legislation permitting the judiciary to retain any increase. Fee for Filing or Indexing a Document Not in a Case Already Filed

The miscellaneous fee schedules for the district and bankruptcy courts impose a $30.00 fee for filing or indexing a miscellaneous document not in a case or proceeding for which a filing fee has been paid. The language in the district court item for this fee, however, differs substantially from the language of the bankruptcy item, as it lists four specific instances to which the fee is applicable, while the bankruptcy item lists only one example. For consistency and clarification, the Judicial Conference amended both items to remove the specific examples and to simply state that the fee shall apply when filing or indexing a document not in a case or proceeding for which a filing fee has already been paid. The amount of the fee remains the same.

Fee for Reproduction of Recordings

This fee was modified to account for changes in technology that have occurred since it was originally established. Many courts today record proceedings using digital equipment rather than magnetic tape recordings, and members of the public requesting reproductions of recordings would prefer that the recording be provided on or through media other than cassette or reel-to-reel. The fees for electronic public access have been removed from the miscellaneous fee schedules for each court unit and have been placed in a new Fee Schedule for Electronic Public Access. Outlined below are changes to fees included in the Court of Federal Claims Miscellaneous Fee Schedule that were approved by the Judicial Conference at its March 2001 session, or by prior Conference action that was contingent upon passage of legislation permitting the judiciary to retain any increase. Attorney Admission Fee

In September 1998, the Judicial Conference approved an increase in the attorney admission fee for the Court of Federal Claims to $50 and the fee for a duplicate certificate of admission or certificate of good standing to $15, contingent upon enactment of legislation to permit the judiciary to retain the resultant increase. Amendment Fee

This fee has been amended to clarify that amendments to the matrices or to the mailing lists of creditors should also generate the $20 fee. By clearly applying this fee to the matrix or mailing list, a debtor would have an incentive to ensure that the matrix or mailing list is accurate at filing. The amount of the fee remains the same.

Fee for Ancillary Filings in Bankruptcy Courts

Item 17 of the Bankruptcy Court Miscellaneous Fee Schedule establishes a fee of $500 for filing a petition ancillary to a foreign proceeding. In September 1997, the Judicial Conference approved an increase in this fee from its current amount to the same amount as the filing fee for commencing a case under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code, as prescribed by 28 U.S.C. § 1930(a)(3). This increase was contingent upon passage of legislation to permit the judiciary to keep the increased amount. The Federal Courts Improvement Act of 2000 included such a provision. Therefore, the fee for filing an ancillary proceeding in a bankruptcy court will increase from $500 to the amount of the fee for filing a Chapter 11, currently $800.

This fee was modified to reflect current technologies by removing the term “printing” and replacing it with the word “providing” to allow courts to provide electronic copies of local rules. As provided in the language of the fee item, courts may still opt to provide local rules without charge.

This fee may be paid in installments in the same manner that the filing fee may be paid in installments, consistent with the procedure set forth in Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 1006.
- (9) Upon the filing of a petition under chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code, the petitioner shall pay $15 to the clerk of the court for payment to trustees serving in cases as provided in 11 U.S.C. § 330(b)(2).
